In the first half of 2017, we generated strong operating results thanks to excellent performance in most of our assets. For our solar assets in the US, the second quarter of 2017 has been the best quarter since they started operations, reaching a 42% capacity factor. In Spain, solar radiation was higher than expected, which, in combination with the asset's solid operational performance, achieved excellent production levels, reaching record production for a second quarter. At Kaxu, production in the first half of this year was lower than in the same period of the previous year as a result of technical issues at the end of 2016. We have completed the repairs of the water pumps at Kaxu and collected the insurance claim proceeds for repairs and loss of production. Finally, in our wind assets, which represent a small portion of our portfolio, production was in line with the same period of the previous year.

ACT, our cogeneration plant in Mexico, has demonstrated high levels of availability and production in the first half of 2017. In transmission lines, availability in the second quarter was high and revenues and EBITDA remained stable. Finally, our water assets delivered stable levels of availability.

Acquisition of a 4MW mini-hydro in Peru

On July 20, 2017, we signed an agreement for the acquisition of a dollarized 4 MW mini-hydro plant in Peru for approximately $9 million. We expect the asset to generate a 10% equity IRR. The asset comes with a fixed-price contract with the Ministry of Energy of Peru (BBB/A3/BBB+¹⁰) and has an indexation mechanism to U.S. CPI. It has delivered a solid operational track record since its commercial operations date in 2012. We expect to finance the acquisition with cash on hand.

“This asset allows us to diversify into a new technology while enjoying geographical synergies with our existing assets in Peru. One of our main goals is to build a pipeline of growth opportunities, combining proprietary opportunities in M&A with existing and new partnerships”, said Santiago Seage, CEO of Atlantica.

The price is subject to conventional working capital adjustments and the closing of the transaction is subject to customary conditions, including approvals by the relevant authorities in Peru.

Liquidity and Debt

Our total liquidity as of June 30, 2017 is $691.9 million and consists of $614.3 million of consolidated cash and cash equivalents, of which $178.9 million was available at the Atlantica corporate level, and $77.6 million of cash classified as short-term financial investments at the project level.

As of June 30, 2017, net project debt amounted to $5,038.7 million and net corporate debt amounted to $505.7 million. The net corporate debt / CAFD pre-corporate debt service ratio¹¹ improved to 2.3x compared to 2.7x as of December 31, 2016.

¹⁰ Based on the counterparty's issuer credit rating of BBB+/A3/BBB+ as issued by Standard & Poor's Ratings Services, Moody's Investors Services Inc. and Fitch Ratings Ltd.

¹¹ Based on midpoint CAFD guidance before corporate debt service for the year 2017.

Net project debt is calculated as long-term project debt plus short-term project debt minus cash and cash equivalents at the project level. Net corporate debt is calculated as long-term corporate debt plus short-term corporate debt minus cash and cash equivalents at Atlantica Yield corporate level.

Dividend

On July 28, 2017, our Board of Directors approved a dividend of $0.26 per share, which represents an increase of 4% from the prior quarter, reflecting a positive outlook regarding the resolution of some of our last remaining waivers. The dividend is expected to be paid on or about September 15, 2017 to shareholders of record as of August 31, 2017. The Board maintains its prudent approach this quarter and we expect to increase dividends once the few remaining waivers and forbearances are secured.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

We present non-GAAP financial measures because we believe that they and other similar measures are widely used by certain investors, securities analysts and other interested parties as supplemental measures of performance and liquidity. The non-GAAP financial measures may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures of other companies and have limitations as analytical tools and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of our operating results as reported under IFRS as issued by the IASB. Non-GAAP financial measures and ratios are not measurements of our performance or liquidity under IFRS as issued by the IASB and should not be considered as alternatives to operating profit or profit for the year or any other performance measures derived in accordance with IFRS as issued by the IASB or any other generally accepted accounting principles or as alternatives to cash flow from operating, investing or financing activities.

We define Further Adjusted EBITDA including unconsolidated affiliates as profit/(loss) for the period attributable to the Company, after adding back loss/(profit) attributable to non-controlling interest from continued operations, income tax, share of profit/(loss) of associates carried under the equity method, finance expense net, depreciation, amortization and impairment charges, and dividends received from the preferred equity investment in ACBH.

Our management believes Further Adjusted EBITDA including unconsolidated affiliates is useful to investors and other users of our financial statements in evaluating our operating performance because it provides them with an additional tool to compare business performance across companies and across periods. This measure is widely used by investors to measure a company's operating performance without regard to items such as interest expense, taxes, depreciation and amortization, which can vary substantially from company to company depending upon accounting methods and book value of assets, capital structure and the method by which assets were acquired. Further Adjusted EBITDA including unconsolidated affiliates is also used by management as a measure of liquidity.

Our management uses Further Adjusted EBITDA including unconsolidated affiliates as a measure of operating performance to assist in comparing performance from period to period on a consistent basis and to readily view operating trends, as a measure for planning and forecasting overall expectations and for evaluating actual results against such expectations, and in communications with our Board of Directors, shareholders, creditors, analysts and investors concerning our financial performance.

We define Cash Available For Distribution as cash distributions received by the Company from its subsidiaries minus all cash expenses of the Company, including debt service and general and administrative expenses. Management believes cash available for distribution is a relevant supplemental measure of the Company's ability to earn and distribute cash returns to investors.

We believe cash available for distribution is useful to investors in evaluating our operating performance because securities analysts and other interested parties use such calculations as a measure of our ability to make quarterly distributions. In addition, cash available for distribution is used by our management team for determining future acquisitions and managing our growth.
